

EUROPEAN CENTRAL BANK

2nd Workshop on Dynamic Macroeconomics

Hydra, Greece, 4/5 June 2004

Local Information

About Hydra

Hydra lies between the Saronic and Argolis Gulf and is 37 nautical miles from the Port of Piraeus in Athens. Hydra has an area of 50 square kilometres, shoreline of 55 kilometres and a population of only 3000 people. It is probably the only place in Greece where not only cars, but also motorbikes and bicycles are prohibited. All transport is by donkey.

The church right in the centre of the harbour, is the Metropolis of Hydra, Assumption of the Virgin Mary, distinguished by its tall prominent clock tower, with church's bells that announce religious events. There are also other churches with beautiful domes supported by marble arcs, like Agios Ioannis and Ipapanti.

Kaminia, Molos, Palamida and Bitsi are some of the sandy beaches of Hydra. Hydra is better known for its rocky beaches. Swimming in such waters is a unique experience.

Hydra offers a good selection of designer and leather goods. Shops are open seven days a week from 9.00am – 10.00pm.

More information about Hydra can be found at <http://www.hydra.gr>

Hotel Miranda

Hydra - Greece

Tel: 30 (2) 2980 52230 – 5393

Fax: 30 (2) 2980 53510

The Miranda Hotel, originally a wealthy sea captain's mansion, was built in 1810. It has been declared a building of National Heritage by the Ministry of Culture (as has the entire island) as it is considered an especially fine example of characteristic Hydriot architecture.

In 1962 the original mansion was converted into a hotel and in 1990 it was renovated with the loving discrimination of the pure connoisseur to make it one of Hydra's 1st class hotels.

Transportation

Airport to Hotel

The new Athens Airport“Eleftherios Venizelos” airport is situated approx. 1 ½ hours from the Port of Piraeus where you catch the Hydrofoil to Hydra. Please take this into consideration when arranging your flights and travel to Hydra.

Please see the appendix I for details of how to reach the port from the airport

Further information on the new airport can be found at www.athensairport-2001.gr.

Hydrofoil: The Hydrofoils (there are 2 companies: Hellenic Flying Dolphin and Saronic Dolphins) depart from GATE Γ (GATE C -Departures to the Saronic Gulf) in the main port of Piraeus, near St. SPIRIDONAS CHURCH (AGIOS SPIRIDONAS). The departure area is located within walking distance from the metro and from Karaiskaki Square (terminal of airport buses). The journey time from Athens to Hydra is 1 hour and 30 minutes. The price of a return ticket is approximately 31 Euros. Tickets can be purchased at the port, at the companies' selling points, right where the hydrofoils depart, or they can be reserved in advance.

You should disembark at the Port of Hydra and walk to your designated hotel. All hotels are within a 5 – 10 minute walk.

You are able to pre-book your tickets for the Hydrofoil. Please take into consideration that hydrofoils for Hydra start departing around 08:00 until 18:00. Please see Appendix II for the Hydrofoils Timetables + other details.

Hydrofoil tickets can be pre-booked from the following company:

Hellas Flying dolphins. Telephone for reservations is (0030) 210 41 99 200,
<http://www.dolphins.gr>

Please remember to keep all receipts, as it may be difficult to obtain reimbursement without them.

Currency

There are cash machines available in Hydra although it is advisable to bring a small amount of Euros with you.

Weather

The weather in Hydra will be warm and sunny with an average daily temperature of around 20 - 28°C. However, nights can often be cooler, therefore participants should dispose of some warmer clothing.

APPENDIX I

Bus Transfers to and from Port Piraeus and the Airport

(this information is also available at http://www.athensairport-2001.gr/en/passenger_information/transport/airport_access/body.shtm)

To travel directly from the airport to the port:

Line E96 Piraeus - Airport Express travels between the airport and the center of Piraeus (Karaïskaki Square). The journey takes approximately 1 ½ hours according to traffic.

Detailed information on Line E 96 route from AUTO (Athens Urban Transport Organisation, <http://www.oasa.gr>)

Participants can use this line to get to Piraeus port, and then go to Gate Γ (which is near a church called AGIOS SPYRIDONAS) where the Hydrofoils depart. The gate is within walking distance from the buses and metro.

For Express Lines E96, a ticket costs Euro 2.93 and is valid for 24 hours on all public transport means (buses, trolley-buses and metro).

Bus Transfers to and from the Airport and Athens (for those staying overnight in Athens)

If you are staying over night in Athens and then catching the Hydrofoil in the morning please catch either of the two buses below.

Line E94 connects the Ethniki Amina Metro Station with the Airport. Detailed information on Line E 94 route from AUTO (Athens Urban Transport Organisation, <http://www.oasa.gr>). The journey takes approximately 20 – 45 minutes according to traffic.

To reach the port from Ethniki Station you can catch the Metro (travel to omonia station and then change lines to Piraeus). You should then go to Gate Γ at the Pireus Central Port (which is near a church called AGIOS SPYRIDONAS) where the Hydrofoil departs. The gate is within walking distance from the buses and metro.

Line E 95 Syntagma Square - Airport Express has its departure point at the center of Athens (Syntagma Square) and terminates at the airport. The journey takes approximately 40 minutes – 1 hour according to traffic.

Detailed information on Line E 95 route from AUTO \(Athens Urban Transport Organisation, http://www.oasa.gr\)

To reach the port from Syntagma Station you can catch the Metro (travel to omonia station and then change lines to Piraeus).

For Express Lines E94-E95, the ticket costs Euro 2.90 and is valid for 24 hours on all public transport means (buses, trolley-buses and metro).

Arriving buses disembark passengers at the designated area of the departure level of the Main Terminal Building.
