Technical definition:

Spouse:
Spouse is defined as a person related by marriage (husband/wife) or alternative legal arrangement (registered partner, in countries where such an arrangement exists).

Partner:
Partner is defined as a person, other than a spouse, with whom one cohabits without being married or having alternative partnership on a legal basis to each other (domestic partner, cohabitating partner, consensual union).

Another relative:
Another relative is a person not belonging to any of the previous categories related to the RP by circumstances of birth or family relationship (e.g. aunts, uncles, cousins, son in law, daughter in law etc.).

Other household member:
Other persons, without such a family relationship, should be coded as other household members, not related to RP.

Reference unit: All household members

Reference period: Current

Coding:

Three characters country code (using the EU-LFS and EU-SILC classification of countries).

If detailed coding is not possible, the following groups can be used:

- OEA = Other Euro Area
- OEU = Other European Union Countries
- OTH = Other countries

Survey definition:

Country of birth is the country where a person was born, defined as the country of usual residence of mother at the time of the birth, or, by default, the country in which the birth occurred. Information on country of birth should be obtained in accordance with the national boundaries existing at the time of data collection.

The country of birth of a person who was born during the mother's short-term visit to a country other than her usual country of residence, should be the country where mother had her place of usual residence.
Particular care is needed in the cases where national boundaries have changed and/or where previously existing countries have split to form two or more new countries. As a rule, person should not be regarded as foreign-born simply because the national boundaries of the country of birth have changed. Persons who migrated before the border change or break-up of a former country should be distinguished from those who did so after these changes. Care should be taken to ensure that persons who have only undertaken internal migrations (non international migrants) within the borders of the former country are not wrongly counted as international migrants.

NME Near and Middle East (Armenia, Azerbaijan, Bahrain, Georgia, Iraq, Israel, Jordan, Kuwait, Lebanon, Occupied Palestinian Territory, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Syrian Arab Republic, United Arab Emirates, Yemen) OAS Other Asia OCE Australia and Oceania OTH Other

Technical definition:

Country of birth would in most of the cases correspond to the actual country of birth. The exception is in case of persons born during a short visit or birth related visit of the mother. Then, place of usual residence of the mother should be coded instead.

For coding country of birth of immigrants, the current states and their borders are to be used (e.g. person born in Ljubljana in 1980 would be coded as SI for Slovenia / OEA Other Euro Area, person born in Prague in the same year as CZ / Other European Union Countries, etc.)

A special care may be needed in survey countries whose borders have moved or which were established by split of previously existing countries. In case of changed borders, persons born on the territory of the survey country at the time of their birth and now residing in the survey country, should be coded as born in the survey country (despite the fact that the territory does no longer belong to the survey country nowadays, the preference here is not to code them as foreign born).

If the duration of the stay is less than a year, the variable will be coded 0.

In case of repeated stays in the country of interview, the answer should reflect the total length respondent has been living in the country as the sum of all stays longer than 6 months.
Example: if respondent studied in the country 5 years, then left the country to come back after some time, the total length of stay should include those 5 years of his/her studies.

PA0100 marital status

What is X’s(your) marital status?

Reference unit: All 16+

Reference period: Current

Coding:

1 - Single/never married
2 - Married
3 - Consensual union on a legal basis
4 - Widowed
5 - Divorced

Survey definition:

Marital status is usually understood as legal marital status, which is defined as the (legal) conjugal status of each individual in relation to the marriage laws (or customs) of the country (i.e. de jure status).

Four main marital statuses can be distinguished: single (never married), married, widowed and divorced. Other legal marital statuses may exist in some countries - like registered/legal partnership or legally separated.

In addition to the de-jure marital status, a second distinct concept of marital status exists - de facto marital status. It is defined as the marital status of each individual in terms of his or her actual living arrangements within the household rather than in terms of a legal status of persons. The key classification criterion is the fact whether person lives in a union with a partner or not. De-facto marital status then distinguishes between partnership with a legal basis and consensual union (co-habitation).

[Source: Eurostat,  Core Social Variables]

Technical definition:

The variable includes legal (de-jure) marital status of the respondent classified under the four main legal marital statuses, plus consensual union on a legal basis:

Single (never married).
Married.
Consensual union on a legal basis (includes registered partnerships or other similar national legal arrangements – if existing in a given country)

Widowed and not remarried (including widowed from registered partnership, where applicable).

Divorced and not remarried (including legally separated and dissolved registered partnership, where applicable).

In case legally separated constitutes a special legal marital status (as it is in some countries), information on these may collected separately but will be thereafter classified under divorced. Married persons not living with their spouse will, however, be classified according to their de-jure status as married. In this respect, the de-jure marital status may not necessarily correspond with the actual situation of the household in terms of co-habitation, arrangements, etc.

NOTE: the actual co-habitation and household arrangements (particularly with respect to informal cohabitation arrangements not covered by legal marital status) can be derived from the relationship of other household members to the reference person. The Eurostat’s Core social Variables works with the following aggregated classification of household types:

1. One-person household
2. Multi-person household
   2.1. Lone parent with child(ren) aged less than 25
   2.2. Couple without child(ren) aged less than 25
   2.3. Couple with child(ren) aged less than 25
   2.4. Couple or lone parent with child(ren) aged less than 25 and other persons living in household*
      2.5 Other type of household

* Category "other persons" includes all persons in household who are not children of that couple or lone parent or partner in that couple.
 Category "Other type of household" includes all other households without parent-child relationship.

3 - ISCED 3: Upper secondary
4 - ISCED 4: Post-secondary
5 - ISCED 5: First stage tertiary
6 - ISCED 6: Second stage tertiary

Survey definition:

The highest level of education of one person is defined as the highest attainment of an educational programme the person has successfully completed.

The educational classification to be used is the International Standard Classification of Education (ISCED 1997) coded according to the seven ISCED-97 categories. The basic unit of classification in ISCED-1997 is the educational programme. Educational programmes are defined on the basis of their educational content as an array or sequence of educational activities, which are organised to accomplish a predetermined objective or a specified set of educational tasks.

ISCED-1997 provides an improved set of criteria for assigning individual programmes to 'levels' of education (the more practical steps for the coding according to ISCED-97 can be found in the ISCED-97 manual published by UNESCO)

Technical definition:

The variable uses the ISCED-97 International Standard Classification of Education.

ISCED categories cannot be asked directly in the questionnaire, answer categories will have to reflect the structure of each national system of education. In each country, an official "mapping" exists of the national system of education into the international ISCED scheme, which is used for compiling EU statistics on education and in surveys coordinated by Eurostat. This "mapping" is to be used as a reference for recoding of answers from national questionnaire into the harmonised ISCED-based output.

The expression "level successfully completed" must be associated with obtaining a certificate or a diploma, when there is a certification. In cases where there is no certification, successful completion must be associated with full attendance.

When determining the highest level, both general and vocational education/training should be taken into consideration.

Persons who have not completed their studies should be coded according to the highest level they have completed.

Main residence

The household main residence is defined as the dwelling where the members of the household usually live, typically a house or an apartment. A household can only have one main residence at any given time, although they may share the residence with people not belonging to the household.

While the main residence of most households is clear, there are cases for which it is not, e.g. for frequent travellers or people living in multiple houses. In these latter cases, criteria for the identification of the household's main residence would consist mostly of guidelines rather than hard rules. For those cases, the main residence has to be determined on a case-by-case basis. Possible factors include: time spent at residence per year, mailing address, tax status, telephone listing, voting registration, location of personal effects, and stated purpose of residence on insurance policies.

Mortgage loans
Mortgage loans are a very common type of debt instrument used by many individuals to borrow money to purchase a property. The financial institution is given security by housing until the mortgage is paid off in full. Under a mortgage loan, the lender has the possibility to sell (foreclose, repossess or seize) the property under certain circumstances (principally, non-payment of the mortgage loan) and to apply the amount received to the original debt.

Mortgage lending is the primary mechanism used in many countries to finance private ownership of residential property. Although the terminology and precise forms will differ from country to country, the basic components tend to be similar.

Collateral
Refers to an asset or a set of assets that are pledged as a guarantee for the repayment of loans. A house, a car, a property, or equipment are all examples of tangible assets that could be used as collateral. In case you are unable to pay off the loan as scheduled, the assets used as collateral will be seized and sold, and the money raised by selling the assets will be used to repay the loan.
Only mortgages taken by household members are taken into account. If the HMR is used as collateral for mortgages of persons, who are not members of the household (HMR used as collateral to loans for son, daughter, other relative, who are not members of the household), these contingent liabilities should not be included among household’s mortgage debt. It is only if and when such contingent debt materialises and the members of the household have to step up to take responsibility for the debt, that the mortgage should be reported as part of household's debt.

If HMR is used as collateral together with some other properties, include the loan as collaterised on household main residence.

Item 6 - Debt consolidation

Debt consolidation is the practice of taking out one unique loan to pay off several others. This is often done to secure a lower interest rate, secure a fixed interest rate or for the convenience of servicing only one loan within the same household. Debt consolidation can simply be from a number of unsecured loans into another unsecured loan, but more often it involves a secured loan against an asset that serves as collateral, most commonly a house, so as to obtain a lower interest from the lender(s). (For example: the idea is that instead of a number of high-interest loans, you take out one large low-rate loan or a top-up loan from your mortgage lender.)

Debt (loan) refinancing

Debt refinancing refers to the conversion of the original debt including arrears, into a new debt instrument. In other words, overdue payments or future debt-service obligations are "paid off" using a new debt obligation.

[Source: Eurostat's Concepts and Definitions Database (CODED), metadata server, RAMON, http://ec.europa.eu/eurostat/ramon/index.cfm?TargetUrl=DSP_PUB_WELC. No official definition provided in ESA95 (only mentioned in paragraph 5.81).]
Technical definition: Debt (loan) refinancing

Debt (loan) refinancing means paying off an existing loan with the proceeds from a new loan, usually of the same size (but could also be larger, if the borrower needs more money, or lower, if additional resources to the new mortgage are used to pay back the previous one). Replacing a loan usually allows the borrower to benefit from better terms, possibly in terms of a lower interest rate and/or a longer pay-off period.

Note: A reverse mortgage is a special type of home loan that lets you convert a portion of the equity in your home into cash.

Technical definition: Loan renegotiation

Loan renegotiation refers to the situation when some of the original loan parameters are subject to re-negotiation and change. This can either be upon request from the borrower (e.g. request for change in regular payments on the loan, extended duration of the loan, additional borrowing on the loan) or it can stem from periodic revision of selected loan parameters (loan parameters are fixed for a certain period of time and when this fixation period expires, they are subject to potential change for example, interest rate may be fixed for certain period and then subject to renegotiation). The change should involve at least a tacit step of negotiation (like acceptance of new interest rate proposal from lending institution), if the change is built in a fixed manner in the construction of the loan without any negotiation step (e.g. adjustable interest rate automatically linked to EURIBOR or other reference interest rate), it does not count as renegotiation.
Renegotiation does change selected parameters of the existing loan, but it does not replace existing loan with a new loan contract (if this is the case, refinancing applies - see HB110$x, HB130$x).

Leasing

Leasing is defined for statistical purposes as financial leasing when the leasing period covers all or most of the economic lifetime of the durable good. At the end of the leasing period, the lessee often has the option to buy the good at a nominal price (ESA 95, Annex II).

Hire purchase

A durable good is sold to a purchaser in return for agreed future payments. The buyer takes possession of the good immediately, though in law it remains the property of the seller or financier as collateral/guarantee until all agreed payments have been made. Hire purchase is usually restricted to consumer durables, and most purchasers are households. Financers of hire purchase contracts typically are separate institutional units operating in close co-operation with sellers of durable goods.

Do you or any other member of the household have a credit line or an account with an overdraft facility with a financial institution?

Reference unit: Household
Reference period: Current
Coding:
1 - Yes

Survey definition:

Credit lines
Credit lines are usually linked to a bank overdraft. They may also be granted on the basis of an ‘umbrella contract’ allowing the customer to draw loans on several types of loan accounts up to a certain maximum amount applying to all loan accounts together. At the time of the agreement on such an umbrella contract, the form the credit will take and/or the time at which the credit will be drawn and/or the interest rate are not specified, but a range of possibilities might be agreed.

Bank overdrafts
Bank overdrafts shall be defined as debit balances on current accounts. Bank overdrafts shall be without defined maturity and, in general, authorised but taken without giving prior notice to the bank. Usually, the credit or other institution shall define an upper limit for the size and the maximum period of the bank overdraft the household or non-financial corporation may accumulate.

Technical definition:

Credit lines
A credit line /line of credit is a type of credit in which a bank undertakes to provide credit to a client during a predefined period. The client may either withdraw the credit amount all at once, or make a certain number of withdrawals during the specified period.

Bank overdrafts
Bank account overdraft: the household is currently maintaining a negative balance on one of its bank accounts. Interest is charged on the amount owed. The bank account does not need to be a current account.
(Note: for the survey purposes the linked account does not need to be a current account).
If the household has negative account balances on a bank account, these should be taken as overdrafts and reported as debt in HC0200 and HC0210 (be it standard overdraft facility agreed with the bank, or unauthorised overdraft).

HC0210 household has outstanding credit line/overdraft balance

Survey definition:

Cards with credit function

Credit function: It enables cardholders to make purchases and/or withdraw cash up to a prearranged ceiling. The credit granted may be settled in full by the end of a specified period or may be settled in part, with the balance taken as extended credit on which interest is usually charged.

Technical definition:

Credit/store cards

Credit cards (Visa, Amex, Master Card, Diners, etc.) provide a specific credit facility: money is lent to people between the time they purchase goods and the time of full repayment of the amount; interest is to be paid on any balance that is not cleared at the end of the month. There are monthly statements for the money spent specifying the minimum amount to be paid. Credit cards are not bank debit cards, where the money spent on the card is immediately deducted from a linked bank account.
Store cards are credit cards issued by a single company/store and can only be used for payments to that company/store.

This variable covers the following types of unsecured loans:

Consumer / personal / instalment loans
You borrow a fixed amount of money and usually have to repay it in fixed instalments over a set period (the term). In most cases, you do not have to have a current account with the bank but you may with a credit union. The interest you pay might be fixed or variable and rates for loans secured by property might be lower than unsecured.

You will be charged interest on what you borrow, usually monthly. The interest rate varies depending on the type of loan. You can use the APR (Annual Percentage Rate) to help you shop around for the best deal. APR tells you the cost of the loan taking into account the interest on the loan and other charges. Repayments are usually by standing order or direct debit from your bank account.

Other loans from a bank or credit institution

Loans from credit unions

Loans from other money lenders: generally short-term loans for small amounts that you pay back within six months or a year. Usually collected weekly with a higher interest rate (compared to bank credit)

Student loans from a bank and student loans from government
Informal loans from relatives and friends.

Technical definition:

The question covers both self-employment businesses (run as sole proprietorship, as independent professional or in partnership, active participation in running limited liability companies) and passive investment in not publicly traded businesses. Publicly traded are businesses whose shares are listed on a stock exchange or other form of secondary market, i.e. they can be bought and sold there. Not publicly traded businesses are then all businesses the shares of which are not publicly traded - it therefore includes all types of businesses except of those with listed shares.

Mutual fund

Mutual fund is equivalent to Money Market Funds in Regulation ECB/2008/32 and in Regulation ECB/2007/8. Money market funds are defined as those collective investment undertakings the shares/units of which are, in terms of liquidity, close substitutes for deposits and which primarily invest in money market instruments and/or in MMF shares/units and/or in other transferable debt instruments with a residual maturity of up to and including one year and/or in bank deposits and/or which pursue a rate of return that approaches the interest rate of money market instruments. Investment funds shall mean a collective investment undertaking that a) invests in financial and non-financial assets to the extent that its objective is investing capital raised from the public and b) is constituted pursuant to Community or national law under: i) contract law (as a common fund managed by management companies); ii) trust law (as a unit trust); iii) company law (as an investment company); or iv) any other similar mechanism.

Mutual fund share/unit:
Equivalent to the sum of the category "money market fund shares/units" in Regulation ECB/2008/32 and "IF shares/units" in Regulation ECB/2007/8. "MMF shares/units" are defined as units issued by MMFs. "IF shares and units" are defined as "shares or units, including in the form of equity capital, issued by IFs that are included in the list of IFs for statistical purposes. This item represents the total liability to the IF’s shareholders. Funds arising from non-distributed benefits or funds set aside by reporting IFs in anticipation of likely future payments and obligations are also included."

Technical definition:

Mutual fund
A form of collective investment that pools money from many investors and invests their money in stocks, bonds, short-term money-market instruments, and/or other securities. In a mutual fund, the fund manager trades the fund's underlying securities, realizing capital gains or losses, and collects the dividend or interest income. The investment proceeds are then passed along to the individual investors. The value of a share of the mutual fund, known as the net asset value per share (NAV), is calculated daily based on the total value of the fund divided by the number of shares currently issued and outstanding.

Mutual funds abroad are also included here.

Bonds

Bonds is equivalent to the category ‘debt securities issued’ and ‘securities other than shares’ in Regulation ECB/2008/32.
Debt securities
Debt securities i.e. securities other than shares excluding financial derivatives, consist of all financial assets which are bearer instruments, are usually negotiable and traded on secondary markets and do not grant the holder any ownership rights to the institutional unit issuing them. This category covers financial assets which are typically represented by documents intended for circulation and whose nominal value is determined on issue. It includes issues of bills, bonds, notes, debentures and similar instruments normally traded in the financial markets. Instruments included in this category can be characterised as providing the holder with the unconditional right to a fixed or contractually determined variable money income in the form of coupon payments (interest) and/or a stated fixed sum on a specified date or dates or starting from a date fixed at the time of issue. Private placements are covered as far as possible.

Global bonds are included (ESA 95, paragraphs 5.50-5.55). This corresponds to ESA 95 category F.33.

Technical definition:

Bonds
Debt securities, in which the issuer owes the holders a debt and is obliged to repay the principal and interest (the coupon) at a later date, termed maturity. Important is that the security is transferrable from one person to another person. The security types "bon de caisse" ("kasbon") in BE and LU are classified as bonds.

Share
Shares is equivalent to ‘shares and other equity’ in Regulation ECB/2008/32 excluding mutual fund share and excluding other equity [because in the survey “other equity” is classified as businesses]. ‘Shares and other equity’ is defined as ‘holdings of securities which represent property rights in corporations or quasi-corporations. These securities generally entitle the holders to a share in the profits of corporations or quasi-corporations and to a share in their own funds in the event of liquidation. Mutual fund shares are included here’. Shares is also equivalent to the classification ‘shares and other equity excluding mutual fund shares’ F.51 in ESA95.
Publicly traded shares: covers those shares with prices quoted on a recognised stock exchange or other form of secondary market (See ESA95, para 5.90.)

Technical definition:

Share

A share is one of a finite number of equal portions in the capital of a company, usually evidenced by a piece of paper (also called share certificate) or by an electronic book entry, entitling the owner to a proportion of distributed, non-reinvested profits known as dividends and to a portion of the value of the company in case of liquidation.

Publicly traded shares are shares that are listed on a stock exchange or other form of secondary market, i.e. they can be bought and sold there. Main exchanges in Europe: Euronext, Frankfurt Stock Exchange, London Stock Exchange, Helsinki Stock Exchange, Madrid stock exchange, Milan stock exchange; Main exchanges in USA: NYSE, Nasdaq, Amex. f - secondary choice labour status g - secondary choice labour status
h - secondary choice labour status
i - secondary choice labour status

Technical definition:

Item a - labour status (first choice):
The variable captures the person’s own perception of their main activity at present.

The term ‘normal’ refers to disregarding purely transient or other temporary changes in the situation, and to an averaging over time in case of fluctuations (such as over 4 weeks preceding the interview). The concept of ‘current’ implies that any definitive changes in the activity situation are taken into account. For instance, if a person has lost a job or has retired recently, or the activity status has changed otherwise in a definitive manner, then the situation as of the time of the interview should be reported. In this sense, ‘current’ overrides any concept of averaging over any specific reference period.

The self-declared main activity status is, in principle, determined on the basis of the most time spent, but no criteria are specified explicitly. In case respondents hesitate between the answers ‘permanently disabled’ and ‘in retirement’, the code ‘in retirement’ should be privileged for persons having reached the most frequent legal retirement age or the one in their previous occupation.

The code ‘in compulsory military or community service’ might not be relevant any longer in certain countries and will therefore be dropped from national questionnaires in these countries.

The code "on sick/maternity/other leave, planning to return to work" applies to situations when respondent has existing employment contract /self-employment activity from which he/she is only temporarily absent due to sickness, maternity leave period or other transitory reasons and he/she expects to return to that job. For routing of the questions, these persons are considered as being in employment - e.g. they are asked questions related to their employment, from which they are only temporary absent.

Unpaid family workers fall under code 1: ‘Doing regular work for pay / self-employed/family business’

Items b-i:

Employee
Employees are defined as persons who work for a public or private employer and who receive compensation in the form of wages, salaries, fees, gratuities, payment by results or payment in kind; non-conscripted members of the armed forces are also included.

- An employee is usually working for an outside employer, but a son or daughter, for example, who is working in a parent’s firm and receives a regular monetary wage is classified here as an employee.
- A woman looking after children in her own home is classified as an employee if she is paid to do this by the local authority (or any other public administration) and if she doesn’t take any decision affecting the enterprise (e.g. schedules or number of children) but as a self employed if she does it privately.
- Apprentices, or trainees receiving remuneration should be considered as employees.
- Priests (of any kind of religion) are considered employees
- Persons who are simultaneously working in their own professional practice and for a public or private employer (e.g. doctors with their own cabinet and working in an hospital) should be classified according to the status where they work a more important number of hours.
Self-employed with employees
Self-employed persons with employees are defined as persons who work in their own business, professional practice or farm for the purpose of earning a profit, and who employ at least one other person. If people working in the business, professional practice or farm, are not paid then he/she should be considered as self employed without employees.

Self-employed without employees
Self-employed persons without employees are defined as persons who work in their own business, professional practice or farm for the purpose of earning a profit, and who do not employ any other person. Nevertheless he may engage members of his/her own family or apprenticed without payment. In this category one can find farmers working alone or using the assistance of members of family.

In particular:
- A woman who looks after one or more children that are not her own on a private basis and receiving a payment for this service is a self-employed.
- A freelancer should be classified as self-employed, although a person who has been regularly retained by a single employer for some time may also be regarded as an employee.

Family worker
Family workers are persons who help another member of the family to run an agricultural holding or other business, provided they are not considered as employees. Persons working in a family business or on a family farm without pay should be living in the same household as the owner of the business or farm, or in a slightly broader interpretation, in a house located on the same plot of land and with common household interests. Such people frequently receive remuneration in the form of fringe benefits and payments in kind. However, that this applies only when the business is owned or operated by the individual themselves or by a relative. Thus, unpaid voluntary work done for charity should not be included.

The category includes,
- A son or daughter working in the parents’ business or on the parents’ farm without pay.
- A wife who assists her husband in his business, e.g. a haulage contractor, without receiving any formal pay.

Special case: Members of producers’ co-operatives
Members of producers’ co-operatives should be considered as self-employed if in the cooperative, each member takes part on an equal footing with other members in determining the organisation of production, sales and/or other work of the establishment, the investments and the distribution of the proceeds of the establishment amongst their members. In the case co-operative hired workers and these workers have an employment contract that gives them a basic remuneration (which is not directly dependent upon the revenue of the cooperative), these workers are identified as employees of the co-operative. Even if the co-operative has employees (e.g. an accountant) the members of the co-operative should be considered as "self-employed without employees" because the co-operative as an institution (and not any of its members) is the employer.

Survey definition:

The variable on occupation should be coded according to the ISCO-08, International Standard Classification of Occupations, published by the International Labour Force (Geneva, 2007).

Technical definition:

The variable refers to the current main job. If multiple jobs are held or were held, the main job should be the one with the greatest number of hours usually worked. The basis for the classification in the ISCO-08 classification is the nature of the job itself and the level of skill required. A job is defined as the set of tasks and duties to be performed. The information needed for the classification by occupation are the job title associated with the main job and a further description of the tasks and duties. For a few occupations, information on size of the workplace (the local unit of activity) is needed to code ISCO 08.

The output of the question is to be coded in two character ISCO-08 classification code. As a recommended best practice, coding at more detailed level could be used in data collection using verbatim text descriptions from respondents, with possible support of CAPI built-in dictionaries and supporting IT tools to facilitate proper coding of responses.

Survey definition:

The economic sector of main employment should be coded according to the NACE, Rev.2, first level, classification provided in annex, which is based upon the Statistical Classification of Economic Activities. The NACE, is the standard classification used at national and EU level for both economic and social statistics. Economic activities are characterised by the input of goods or services, a production process and the output of products.

Technical definition:

This variable refers to the main job. If multiple jobs are held, the main job should be the one with the greatest number of hours usually worked.

The underlying question asks the respondent to describe the economic activity and the kind of products or services supplied by the firm where (s)he works.
If the company is diversified, the activity of the subsidiary in which respondent works is to be asked. If the employer operates on more localities, the economic activity of the employer should refer to the local unit where respondent works. The "local unit" to be considered is the geographical location where the job is mainly carried out or, in the case of itinerant occupations, can be said to be based; normally it consists of a single building, part of a building, or, at the largest, a self-contained group of buildings. The "local unit" is therefore the group of employees of the enterprise who are geographically located at the same site.

Technical definition:

This variable refers to the main job. If multiple jobs are held or were held, the main job should be the one with the greatest number of hours usually worked.

This question is addressed only to employees. Jobs are usually based on written work contracts. However, in some countries such contracts exist only for specific cases (for example in the public sector, for apprentices, or for other persons undergoing some formal training within an enterprise). Taking account of these different institutional arrangements the notions "temporary job" and "work contract of limited duration" (likewise "permanent job" and "work contract of unlimited duration") describe situations which under different institutional frameworks can be regarded as similar. A job may be regarded as temporary if it is understood by both employer and the employee that the termination of the job is determined by objective conditions such as reaching a certain date, completion of an assignment or return of another employee who has been temporarily replaced. In the case of a work contract of limited duration the condition for its termination is generally mentioned in the contract.

To be included in these groups are:

- persons with a seasonal job
- persons engaged by an employment agency or business and hired out to a third party for the carrying out of a "work mission" (unless there is a work contract of unlimited duration with the employment agency or business)
- persons with specific training contracts. If there exists no objective criterion for the termination of a job or work contract these should be regarded as permanent or of unlimited duration.

What is involved is the actual employment being time-limited under an agreement - not that he/she has, for example, considered stopping work in order to travel or attend college. Students with jobs which they only reckon to have for as long as they are studying are thus not in a time-limited job. Respondents who have a contract to do their job, which may be renewed, for example, once a year, should be coded according to whether or not the respondents themselves consider their job to be of an unlimited duration.

Contract for a probationary period when the contract finishes automatically at the end of the probationary period, necessitating a new contract if the person continues to be employed by the same employer, is considered as "temporary job".

Technical definition:

If multiple jobs are held, the main job should be the one with the greatest number of hours usually worked.

The number of hours corresponds to the number of hours the person normally works in his/her main job. This covers all hours including extra hours, either paid or unpaid, which the person normally works, but excludes the travel time between the home and the place of work as well as the main meal breaks (normally taken at midday). Persons who usually also work at home (within the definitions given below) are asked to include the number of hours they usually work at home.

Apprentices, trainees and other persons in vocational training should exclude the time spent in school or other special training centres.

Some persons, particularly the self-employed and family workers, may not have usual hours, in the sense that their hours vary considerably from week to week or month to month. When the respondent is unable to provide a figure for usual hours for this reason, the average of the hours actually worked per week over the past four weeks is used as a measure of usual hours.

For self-employed people, in particular, normal hours may also include work done at home, such as planning, record-keeping and so on.

Special case: Persons who usually also work at home

This concept applies to many self-employed people, for example in artistic or professional activities, who work wholly or partly at home, often in a part of their living accommodation set aside for the purpose. However, if the place of work comprises a separate unit (for example, a doctor's surgery or tax consultant's practice) which is adjacent to the person's home but contains a separate entrance, then work performed there should not be considered to be done "at home". Similarly, a farmer is not to be regarded as working "at home" when he is occupied in fields or buildings adjacent to his house. In the case of employees, "working at home" should be interpreted strictly in terms of formal working arrangements, where it is mutually understood by the employee and the employer that a certain part of the work is to be done at home. Such an arrangement may be explicitly included in the terms of employment, or may be recognised in other ways (for example, if the employee explicitly notifies the employer of this work by completing a timesheet, or by requesting additional payment or other form of compensation). This arrangement is also recognised if an employee is equipped with a computer in his home in order to perform his work. Other typical examples of "working at home" include travelling salesmen who prepare at home for appointments with clients which are then held at the clients' offices or homes, or persons who do typing or knitting work which on completion is sent to a central location. "Working at home" does not cover cases where employees carry out tasks at home (because of personal interest or pressure of time), which under their working arrangements might equally have been performed at their place of work.

If the person is a seasonal worker the number of working hours per week to be reported should correspond to the average over the year, i.e. number of hours per week (during active working periods) times the number of working weeks per year divided by 52.

This indicator provides a summary measure of the labour force experience of the individual. The number of years, since starting the first regular job, that the person has spent at work, whether as an employee or self-employed. When a person had a job, but was temporarily absent because of maternity leave, injury or temporary disability, slack work for technical or economical reasons, … the related period is to be taken into account.

‘At work’ is self-defined. In cases where there is doubt, such as when the person spent a number of years working on a part-time basis, the person’s own perception of whether their main activity was ‘at work’ or something else should be taken.

Survey definition:

Public pension plan
A pension (or retirement income) plan (arrangement or scheme) is a legally binding contract having an explicit retirement objective (or - in order to satisfy tax related conditions or contract provisions - the benefits can not be paid at all or without a significant penalty unless the beneficiary is older than a legally defined retirement age). This contract may be part of a broader employment contract, it may be set forth in the plan rules or documents, or it may be required by law. The elements of the pension plan may be mandated by law or statute or set forth as pre-requisites for special tax treatment, as is the case for many tax qualified savings or retirement programme designed to provide the plan's members and beneficiaries with an income after retirement. In addition to having an explicit retirement objective, pension plans may offer additional benefits, such as disability, sickness, and survivors' benefits.

Public pension plan
Social security and similar schemes where the general government (that is central, state, and local governments, as well as other public sector bodies such as social security institutions) administers the payment of pension benefits.
Social security funds
Institutional units whose principal activity is to provide social benefits and which fulfil each of the following criteria:
- by law or by regulation certain groups of the population are obliged to participate in the scheme or to pay contributions;
- the government is responsible for the management of the institution in respect of the settlement or approval of the contributions and benefits independently from its role as supervisory body or employer.

Technical definition:
Public and social security pension plans
In each country National Accounts provide the SEC 95 list of public sector bodies, i.e. bodies that must be considered as providers of public pension plans. Occupational pension plans
Access to such plans is linked to an employment relationship between the plan member and the entity that establishes the plan (the plan sponsor). Occupational plans may be established by employers or groups of employers (e.g. industry associations), sometimes in conjunction with labour associations (e.g. a trade union). Generally, the plan sponsor is responsible for making contributions to occupational pension plans, but employees may be also required to contribute. Sponsors may also have administrative or oversight responsibilities for these plans. They are also referred as employer’s pension schemes or company pension plans.

Personal (voluntary) plans
Access to these plans is not linked to an employment relationship. Individuals independently purchase and select material aspects of the arrangements without intervention of their employers. Some personal plans may have restricted membership (e.g. to the self-employed, to members of a particular craft or trade association, to individuals who do not already belong to an occupational plan, etc).

Life insurance
Holders of life insurance policies, both with profit and without profit, make regular payments to an insurer (there may be just a single payment), in return for which the insurer guarantees to pay the policy holder an agreed minimum sum or an annuity, at

Personal (voluntary) pension plans
Participation in these plans is in general voluntary for individuals, i.e. by law individuals are not obliged to participate in these pension plans. Survey definition:

Employee income in cash or near cash
Employee income is the sum of remuneration received from an employer in cash. It includes any income from regular wages or salaries, including remuneration for time not worked (such as annual holidays), any overtime, thirteenth month payment, fees paid to directors of incorporated enterprises, sums paid for fostering children regarded as payment for labour, tips and gratuities, bonuses and profit sharing benefits (including stock options), allowances paid to cover expenses such as living in special quarters or in a special when relocation is part of the conditions of service of the job. Any reimbursements for work expenses from an employer should be deducted if paid with wages and salaries (e.g. business travel and accommodation costs).

Technical definition:

Gross cash employee income
It refers to the monetary component of the compensation of employees in cash payable by an employer to an employee. It includes the value of any social contributions and income taxes payable by an employee or by the employer on behalf of the employee to social insurance schemes or tax authorities.

Gross employee cash or near cash income includes the following items:
- Wages and salaries paid in cash for time worked or work done in main and any secondary or casual job(s);
- Remuneration for time not worked (e.g. holiday payments);
- Enhanced rates of pay for overtime;
- Fees paid to directors of incorporated enterprises
- Piece rate payments
- Payments for fostering children
- Commissions, tips and gratuities
- Supplementary payments (e.g. thirteenth month payment)
- Profit sharing and bonuses paid in cash
- Additional payments based on productivity
- Allowances paid for working in remote locations (regarded as part of the conditions of the job)
- Allowances for transport to or from work
- Cash housing allowances paid by employer
- Additional payments made by employers to their employees or former employees and other eligible persons to supplement the sick, disability, maternity leave or survivor's pay entitlement from social insurance schemes, where such payments can not be separately and clearly identified as social benefits.
- Payments made by employers to an employee in lieu of wages and salaries through a social insurance scheme when unable to work through sickness, disability or maternity leave where such payment can not be separately and clearly identified as social benefits.
- Payments for fostering children: It refers to the amount of money that the government or NPISHs give to families for taking care of children. These children live in a family instead of living in an institution. The family is not the real family. The children do not have the legal status of 'children of the family'.

All such income received in the reference period should be included, even if in arrears.

It excludes:
- Reimbursements made by an employer for work-related expenses (e.g. business travel)
- Severance and termination pay to compensate employees for employment ending before the employee has reached the normal retirement age for that job and redundancy payments (they are included under HG0600)
- Allowances for purely work-related expenses such as those for travel and subsistence or for protective clothes
- Lump sum payments at the normal retirement date (they are included under HG0600)
- Union strike pay.
- Employers’ social insurance contributions

[Interviewer: Income from a business other than self-employment income is covered in 7.10B].

Reference unit: All 16+

Survey definition:
Income from self-employment
Income from self-employment (including farming) is the net operating profit or loss that a self-employed person makes out of his or her unincorporated enterprise. It includes an element which rewards the labour expended and also an element covering the return to the capital employed (mixed income). The business of a self-employed person may make a loss, which is regarded as negative income. Income from self-employment excludes rental and royalty income, dividends earned by owners of incorporated enterprises, as well as profits from capital investment in unincorporated businesses.

Net operating profit or loss is gross revenue minus operating costs, wages and salaries paid to employees, including social contributions, taxes paid on production and imports, interest paid on business loans, and depreciation of fixed assets. Net operating profit includes in kind goods and services taken out of the enterprise by the owners or partners. Gross revenue includes subsidies received.

In kind or imputed income due to the consumption of goods and services that self-employed produce themselves or obtain through bartering are not included.

Technical definition:
Self-employment income
Self-employment income is defined as the income received, during the income reference period, by individuals, for themselves or in respect of their family members, as a result of their current or former involvement in self-employment jobs. Self-employment jobs are those jobs where the remuneration is directly dependent upon the profits (or the potential for profits) derived from the goods and services produced (where own consumption is considered to be part of profits). The self-employed make the operational decisions affecting the enterprise, or delegate such decisions while retaining responsibility for the welfare of the enterprise. (In this context “enterprise” includes one-person operations). The remuneration of hobbies shall be regarded as self-employment.

If the income collected or compiled corresponds to a time period earlier than the reference period, basic adjustments shall be applied to update the data to the income reference period.

It includes:
- Net operating profit or loss accruing to working owners of, or partners in, an unincorporated enterprise, less interest on business loans;
- Royalties earned on writing, inventions, and so on not included in the profit/loss of unincorporated enterprises;
- Rentals from business buildings, vehicles, equipment, etc not included in the profit/loss of unincorporated enterprises, after deduction of related costs such as interest on associated loans, repairs and maintenance and insurance charges.

It excludes:
- Directors fees earned by owners of incorporated enterprises (which are included under ‘Gross cash employee income under PG0100);
- Dividends paid by incorporated enterprises (which are included under ‘Income from financial investments HG0400
- Profits from capital invested in an unincorporated enterprise in which the person does not work (‘sleeping partners’) (it is included under ‘Income from private business or partnership HG0500);
- Rentals from dwellings, land and receipts from boarders or lodgers not included in the profit/loss of unincorporated enterprises (which are included under ‘Rental income from real estate property’ HG0300).

In practice if the self-employed person or business prepares annual accounts for tax purposes, the gross income benefits/losses shall be calculated as net operating benefits/losses shown on this tax account for the most recent 12 month period, before deduction of taxes on income and compulsory social insurance contributions.

In the absence of annual accounts, either for tax purposes or as a business account, the alternative approach to measure self-employment income shall be to collect the amount of money (and goods) drawn out of the business for personal use (for consumption or saving, including the market value of goods produced or purchased by the business but taken for personal use).

Survey definition:

Unemployment benefits
Any regular transfers from social security or other governmental agencies in the form of unemployment benefits.

Technical definition:

Unemployment benefits refer to benefits that replace in whole or in part income lost by a worker due to the loss of gainful employment; provide a subsistence (or better) income to persons entering or re-entering the labour market; compensate for the loss of earnings due to partial unemployment; replace in whole or in part income lost by an older worker who retires from gainful employment before the legal retirement age because of job reductions for economic reasons; contribute to the cost of training or re-training people looking for employment; or help unemployed persons meet the cost of travelling or relocating to obtain employment;

It includes:

- Full unemployment benefits: benefits compensating for loss of earnings where a person is capable of working and available for work but is unable to find suitable employment, including persons who had not previously been employed.
- Partial unemployment benefits: benefits compensating for the loss of wages or salary due to formal short-time working arrangements, and/or intermittent work schedules, irrespective of their cause (business recession or slow-down, breakdown of equipment, climatic conditions, accidents and so on), and where the employer/employee relationship continues.
- Early retirement for labour market reasons: periodic payments to older workers who retire before reaching standard retirement age due to unemployment or to job reductions caused by economic measures such as the restructuring of an industrial sector or of a business enterprise. These payments normally cease when the beneficiary becomes entitled to an old age pension.
- Vocational training allowance: payments by social security funds or public agencies to targeted groups of persons in the labour force who take part in training schemes intended to develop their potential for employment.
- Mobility and resettlement: payments by social security funds or public agencies to unemployed persons to encourage them to move to another locality or change their occupation in order to seek or to obtain work.
- Other cash benefits: other unemployment financial assistance, particularly payments to the long-term unemployed

It excludes:
- Family allowances paid for dependent children, even if the eligibility for them is depended on the respondent being unemployed (included under received income from public transfers HG0100).
- Severance and termination payments (included under HG0600)

Technical definition:

Social benefits

Social benefits are defined as current transfers received during the income reference period by households intended to relieve them from the financial burden of a number of risk or needs, made through collectively organised schemes, or outside such schemes by government units and NPISHs. It includes the value of any social contributions and income tax payable on the benefits by the beneficiary to social insurance schemes or to tax authorities. In order to be included as a social benefit, the transfer must meet one of two criteria:
- Coverage is compulsory (under law, regulation or a collective bargaining agreement) for the group in question;
- It is based on the principle of social solidarity (i.e. if it is an insurance-based pension, the premium and entitlements are not proportional to the individual exposure to risk of the people protected).

The social benefits included are restricted to cash benefits. The benefits in-kind are not included.

The social benefits collected at a household level under HG0100 include the following types of benefits:
- Family/children related allowances
- Housing allowances
- Education allowances refer to grants, scholarships and other education help received by students.
- Minimum subsistence of minimum income schemes types of social benefits, periodic payments to people with insufficient resources

Regular private transfers
Any regular transfers from private entities and/or other households. Includes, compulsory or voluntary alimony and child support received on a regular basis, regular payments from households in other countries, any other regular income support payments from people living in other households such as received by children studying away from home or elderly relatives living in another household. Also includes, regular support received from non-profit institutions including charities, such as regular assistance provided by non-profit institutions serving households, strike pay from unions received on a regular basis, scholarships from charitable trusts.
Technical definition:

Regular inter-household cash transfers received refer to regular monetary amounts received, during the income reference period, from other households or persons. They should refer to regular payment received, even if once a year, available to finance (regular) consumption expenditure.

Inter-household transfers should be:
- Regular, i.e. transfer receipts must be to some extent be anticipated or relied on;
- Current, i.e. available for consumption during the income reference period.

The definition of regular does not refer to precise timing and do not require strong periodicity.

It includes:
- Compulsory alimony and child support;
- Voluntary alimony and child support received on a regular basis;
- Regular cash support from persons other than household members;
- Regular cash support from households in other countries.
- Scholarships from charitable trusts.

It excludes:
- Inheritances and other capital transfers, i.e. transfers received from other households which the household does not consider as being wholly available for consumption within the income reference period (covered as inheritances under HH0100);
- Gifts and other large, one-time and unexpected cash flows, like “lump sums” to buy a car, a house, … or to be saved for long term consumption (more than one year ahead) (covered as gifts under HH0100).

Reference unit: Household

Reference period: Last 12 months/last calendar year

Coding:
1 - Yes
2 - No

Survey definition:

This variable covers rental income:
Rents on land, inland waters and rivers and sub-soil assets
Rents on land consist of the amounts paid to a landowner by a tenant for the use of the land. Rents on subsoil assets consist of the payments made to the owners of the subsoil assets by institutional units permitting them to extract the subsoil deposits over a specified period.

Rental income other than for land
Rental on fixed assets is the amount payable by the user of a fixed asset to its owner, under an operating lease or similar contract, for the right to use that asset in production for a specified period of time.

Technical definition:

Income from rental of a property or land refers to the income received, during the income reference period, from renting a property (for example renting a dwelling - not included in the profit/loss of unincorporated enterprises-, receipts from boarders or lodgers, or rent from land) after deducting costs such as mortgage interest repayments, minor repairs, maintenance, insurance and other charges.

If renting of the property is part of an unincorporated business (e.g. renting summer apartments as a self-employment business), the income should be part of the self-employment income under PG0200.

Survey definition:

Interest
Interest is the amount that the debtor becomes liable to pay to the creditor over a given period of time without reducing the amount of principal outstanding, under the terms of the financial instrument agreed between them.

Dividends
Dividends are a form of property income to which shareholders, that is the owners of a corporation, become entitled as a result of placing funds at the disposal of the corporation. (Source: System of National Accounts, United Nations, 1993). Out of these, only dividends received from publicly traded companies are included as financial investments income under PG0400.

Technical definition:

Interest and dividends received from publicly traded companies (not including the profit/loss of an unincorporated enterprises and investments in companies that are not publicly traded). Refer to the amount of interest from assets such as bank accounts, certificates of deposit, bonds, publicly traded shares etc. received during the income reference period less expenses incurred.

Technical definition:
Other income sources
Any other income that is not included in the sources already recorded. Residual item.
Sources of income to be included:
- Capital gains or losses from the sale of assets
- Severance and termination payments (benefits compensating employees for employment ending before the employee has reached the normal retirement age for that job); redundancy compensation (capital sums paid to employees who have been dismissed through no fault of their own by an enterprise that is ceasing or cutting down its activities)
- Lump sum payments upon retirement
- Premature withdrawal from private pension schemes
- Prize winnings
- Insurance settlements

NOTE: If the text specification of the kind of income provided by the respondent allows subsequent re-classification into one of the standardised income variables, the preferred solution is to add this income under its corresponding category. If such ex-post classification is not possible or the income does not belong to any of these income components, the residual income variable HG0610 is to be used, with the text description of the kind of income provided in HG0620.

In addition, internet service fees should be included. The word "utility" in English also includes public services such as transportation, which we recommend excluding here.
[Source: COICOP-HBS classification of goods]

Technical definition:

Expenditure in utilities
Payments related to provision of water supply, electricity, gas and other fuels, telephone expenses (fixed and mobile) to all the dwellings the household owns or, if none is owned, the dwelling rented, and internet, cable and satellite subscriptions. All concepts include both contract setup costs incurred during the period and regular expenses in the item. Taxes or tax-like payments related to broadcasting that are compulsory for every household in a country should be excluded. There is an issue about communal costs in dwellings that share quasi public services, like a swimming pool or common lightning (that partly include water or electricity). Transportation costs should be excluded.

Technical definition:

Regular inter-household transfers paid refer to regular monetary amount paid, during the income reference period, to other households. They should refer to regular payments, even once a year, out of income.

These inter-household transfers should be:

- Regular, i.e. transfer payments must be to some extent be anticipated or relied on;
- Current, i.e. out of the income from the income reference period.

The definition of regular does not refer to precise timing and do not require strong periodicity.

Regular inter-household transfers paid include:

- Compulsory alimony and child support
- Voluntary alimony and child support paid on a regular basis
- Regular cash support to persons other than household members
- Regular cash support to households in other countries.
- Regular donations given to charities/institutions (eg the church).

Regular inter-household transfers paid exclude:

- Capital transfers and money drawn from saving.
- Repayments of loans/transfers received.

NOTE: The applied definition should mirror the one applied for the inter-household transfers received under HG0200.

Coding:
Numerical value

Survey definition:
Technical definition (ILO):
The economically active population comprises all persons of either sex who furnish the supply of labour for the production of goods and services during a specified time-reference period. National practices vary between countries as regards the treatment of groups such as armed forces, members of religious orders, persons seeking their first job, seasonal workers or persons engaged in part-time economic activities.
