DECISION (EU) 2024/[XX] OF THE EUROPEAN CENTRAL BANK of 16 April 2024
on the remuneration of non-monetary policy deposits held with national central banks and the European Central Bank
(ECB/2024/11)

THE GOVERNING COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN CENTRAL BANK,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular the first indent of Article 127(2) thereof,

Having regard to the Statute of the European System of Central Banks and of the European Central Bank, and in particular Articles 12.1 and 14.3, and Articles 17, 22 and 23 thereof,

Whereas:

(1) The Governing Council carried out a review of the remuneration applied to the deposits held with national central banks of Member States whose currency is the euro (hereinafter ‘NCBs’) and the European Central Bank (ECB) that are not related to the implementation of monetary policy (‘non-monetary policy deposits’). The aim of the review was to avoid potential interference of such deposits with the single monetary policy, while ensuring compliance with the principle of an open market economy and consistency in the treatment of similar deposits within the Eurosystem.

(2) Following the review, the Governing Council decided that greater transparency of the remuneration of non-monetary policy deposits is necessary. The remuneration rates applicable to these deposits are set out in Guideline (EU) 2019/671 of the European Central Bank (ECB/2019/7)¹, Guideline (EU) 2024/xx of the European Central Bank (ECB/2024/13)², Guideline (EU) 2022/912 of the European Central Bank (ECB/2022/8)³ and Decision (EU) 2019/1743 of the European Central Bank (ECB/2019/31)⁴. In order to improve transparency, as well as consistency across related legal acts, it is appropriate for remuneration rates to be set out in a comprehensive manner in a single legal act.

2 Guideline (EU) 2024/xx of the European Central Bank of 16 April 2024 on the Eurosystem’s provision of reserve management services in euro to central banks and countries located outside the euro area and to international organisations (ECB/2024/13) (not yet published in the Official Journal).
to facilitate communication of the remuneration rates and to allow for future adjustments of those rates.

(3) The remuneration of non-monetary policy deposits should not contribute to persistently or structurally disturbing the transmission or implementation of monetary policy and should safeguard orderly market functioning and thus limit the scope for large volatility of such deposits.

(4) The Governing Council set the main remuneration policy rate at euro short-term rate (€STR) minus a spread. The spread is easily adjustable in the event that market conditions change, in order to preserve the effectiveness of monetary policy transmission while minimising the risk of abrupt flows into or out of money markets and allowing for a simple and consistent remuneration framework, with very few exceptions. The Governing Council has set, and will adjust as necessary, the spread to meet the objectives of the remuneration policy and to avoid negative effects on monetary policy implementation or market functioning. The spread is currently set at 20 basis points.

(5) The Governing Council has determined that certain deviations or exceptions from the main remuneration policy rate are necessary. The ceiling concept should continue to apply for the remuneration of government deposits and certain other non-monetary policy deposits, to allow NCBs to remunerate such deposits at a lower rate than the ceiling where appropriate, taking into account country-specific conditions such as those in the repurchase transactions market. A lower spread than 20 basis points, initially set at zero, should apply in the case of guarantee funds held by European Economic Area financial market infrastructures such as payment systems, central counterparties and central securities depositaries, as well as for prefunded accounts held in TARGET, in view of the importance of these holdings for the smooth operation of payment systems and financial stability. Funds that are required to be temporarily deposited with the NCBs or the ECB in relation to financial assistance should continue to be exempt from negative rates.

(6) The Governing Council has also determined it necessary to provide that, in certain circumstances, granular information regarding non-monetary policy deposits may be requested from NCBs by the ECB and be shared within the ECB and the Eurosystem on a strict need-to-know basis when the ECB determines, on a case-by-case basis, that such information is needed to enable the Eurosystem to assess the potential impact of those deposits on the implementation of monetary policy.

(7) In order to achieve these objectives and in order to allow NCBs sufficient time to prepare for the application of the new remuneration policy to non-monetary policy deposits, this Decision should apply from 1 December 2024,

HAS ADOPTED THIS DECISION:

Article 1

Definitions

For the purposes of this Decision, the following definitions apply:

(1) 'deposit' means a credit balance in euro or in another currency resulting from funds held in an account with an NCB or the ECB or from temporary situations deriving from other services provided by an
NCB or the ECB, giving rise to a liability recorded on that NCB’s or the ECB’s balance sheet, and which that NCB or the ECB is required to repay under the applicable contractual or regulatory conditions, including overnight and fixed term deposits;

(2) ‘€STR’ means the euro short-term rate as defined in Article 2(2) of Guideline (EU) 2019/1265 of the European Central Bank (ECB/2019/19)\(^5\) and published by the ECB;

(3) ‘€STR OIS’ means an overnight index swap (OIS) as defined in Article 1(25) of Regulation (EU) No 1333/2014 of the European Central Bank (ECB/2014/48)\(^6\), where the periodic floating interest rate payments refer to €STR as the overnight index rate;

(4) ‘non-monetary policy deposits’ means deposits that are not executed to implement the single monetary policy as decided by the Governing Council and that fall within the scope of one of the following:

(a) Guideline (EU) 2019/671 of the European Central Bank on domestic asset and liability management operations by the national central banks (ECB/2019/7)\(^7\);

(b) Guideline (EU) 2024/xx of the European Central Bank on the Eurosystem’s provision of reserve management services in euro to central banks and countries located outside the euro area and to international organisations (ECB/2024/13)\(^8\);

(c) Guideline (EU) 2022/912 of the European Central Bank on a new-generation Trans-European Automated Real-time Gross Settlement Express Transfer system (TARGET) (ECB/2022/8);

(d) Decision (EU) 2022/911 of the European Central Bank concerning the terms and conditions of TARGET-ECB (ECB/2022/22)\(^9\);

(e) Decision (EU) 2019/1743 of the European Central Bank on the remuneration of holdings of excess reserves and of certain deposits (ECB/2019/31)\(^10\).

Article 2

5. Where a negative interest rate applies to any of the deposits referred to in this Article, the deposit holder shall owe interest to the relevant NCB or the ECB, and the relevant NCB or the ECB may debit the relevant deposit account accordingly.

\textit{Article 3}

\textbf{Sharing of information on non-monetary policy deposits}

1. Where the ECB considers, on a case-by-case basis, that it is necessary for assessing potential impacts on the implementation of monetary policy, NCBs shall share with the ECB complete information on non-monetary policy deposits, including details on the following:

\begin{itemize}
  \item[(a)] account holders;
  \item[(b)] the remuneration applied;
  \item[(c)] the amounts held with the relevant NCB.
\end{itemize}

2. Information received by the ECB pursuant to paragraph 1 shall be shared within the ECB, and by the ECB within the Eurosystem, on a strict need-to-know basis.

\textit{Article 4}

\textbf{Entry into force}

1. This Decision shall enter into force on the twentieth day following that of its publication in the Official Journal of the European Union.

2. It shall apply from 1 December 2024.
