

EIOPA Q&A relating to ECB add-ons

Last updated 25 July 2025

The ECB, in close cooperation with EIOPA, has prepared reporting templates known as “unofficial reporting templates including ECB add-ons”¹ or “URTs”, which integrate all the statistical and supervisory data requirements into one reporting process². They also highlight information that needs to be provided for statistical purposes that go beyond supervisory requirements, i.e. ECB add-ons. The URTs consist of (i) existing quantitative reporting templates for which there are ECB add-ons, and (ii) newly introduced statistical reporting templates consisting entirely of ECB add-ons. The accompanying files contain instructions for reporting ECB add-ons³.

EIOPA’s Question and Answer process on Solvency II allows reporting agents to submit questions relating to ECB add-ons, which are published with the answers on its website⁴. Table 1 provides an overview of these questions and answers.
